

Useful links

On this page I will include links to other places that may be of interest.

<https://www.gov.je/Leisure/Liberation75/events/Pages/home.aspx>

Jersey Heritage have some great resources to help celebrate Liberation 75 at home including some footage and memories of the Occupation and Liberation of Jersey.

<https://www.jerseyheritage.org/athome/liberation75>

An occupation timeline can be found here: <https://www.jerseyheritage.org/occupation>

Here is a great link to the events that led up to Liberation Day:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6ajMjvwk818>

This is a local website and contains a lot of information (not all of which may be appropriate to younger children) but there are lots of good images available. Part of being a historian is using a range of sources and they will encourage some good discussion.

<https://www.theislandwiki.org/index.php/Liberation>

https://www.theislandwiki.org/index.php/Pictures of the Liberation

See the JT activity page for some local recipes and a link to the live stream on Liberation Day itself.

<https://www.jtglobal.com/jt-hub/liberation-day/>

You can listen to Winston Churchill's famous speech here:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JNTWYqVCBZc> (the part associated most with Jersey starts about 2 mins in)

This link encourages you to learn some songs, along with a signed version, ready to join in with a sing-a-long on at 11a.m. on Thursday 7th May, aimed at primary school children.

<https://www.carradinescockneysingalong.co.uk/ve-day?fbclid=IwAR3XXM22Y4aOrHs9dILar2GDzcQYuTl2DbwPpX2cgx6O0Nyiax4H5ne-vcY>

This link is from the 'Visit Plymouth' website and whilst aimed at people in and around Plymouth it has some good resources on it. There is some information about VE day, which is also being celebrated in England this year, some 1940's music and dances to learn as well as costumes and recipes.

https://www.visitplymouth.co.uk/whats-on/top-events/ve-day-75?fbclid=IwAR1qkkdpCKFRR1Gc9E6yGAHjIz75Y79HI0_V_6p9aCsIJzWoahN_nhsaBFw

This website, although mostly related to life in the UK also has some information about how life has changed in the 75 years since VE and Liberation Day. It makes for some thought provoking discussion.

<http://www.primaryhomeworkhelp.co.uk/war/changessince.htm>