

*22nd April
Today is Earth Day!*

It's a day when people all around the world think about small changes that can help protect our planet. One simple change is trying a plant-based meal – it can be tasty, colourful, and good for the environment. If you feel curious today, why not give our plant-based dish a try? You might discover a new favourite!