

Dear Families,

Welcome to Week 4 of the Summer Term. Dare I say a 'Normal' five-day week!

Thank you so much to all of those keeping in touch with me, either through EExAT or by email. I know I say it every week, but I cannot tell you how happy it makes me to see all those lovely faces and the learning that is taking place. You are all doing an amazing job. I have been in school last Thursday and will be tomorrow, Monday, so forgive me if there is a delay in responding to your emails.

One of the most important priorities of the Foundation stage is to foster a love of learning and you are truly inspiring a class of eager learners. Try to encourage their interests and encourage their independence when possible. There is much discussion about when and how schools will return to 'normal'. There are many challenges to deal with before schools can re-open to all. Rest assured you and your family's health and safety are paramount and we will endeavour to assess and investigate all the different options put forward to ensure that, once we do open, we are confident that we are not putting any of you or your children at risk.

This week's maths and literacy activities are based on the book 'The Very Busy Spider'. Don't worry if you haven't got the book in your home, I have included a link to an animated version of the story on YouTube.

I am always available on my work email for any families that need support or questions answered.

If anyone wishes to contact me this way the address is: k.couriard@stpeter.sch.je

You know where I am if you need me, I am here to support as best I can. Have a good week.

Take Care, Stay Safe, Stay Happy!

Kay Couriard
